“The pre-eminent intellectual newspaper in English.”*

The New York Review of Books is widely regarded as the world's most distinguished intellectual—and yet accessible—magazine. Each biweekly issue engages some of the world's sharpest minds in the most passionate political and cultural controversies of the day, and reviews the most engrossing new books and the ideas that illuminate them.

NEAL ASCHERSON: How Millions Have Been Dying in the Congo

AMY KNIGHT: The Mysterious End of the Soviet Union

ANNE APPLEBAUM on Vladimir Putin

CLAIRE MESSUD on Anita Desai

J.M. COETZEE: Storm Over Young Goethe

TIM PARKS on Anton Chekhov

NADINE GORDIMER: South Africa: The New Threat to Freedom

COLM TÓIBÍN on Julian Barnes

STEVE COLL: Will Iran Get That Bomb?

MICHAEL TOMASKY: How to Follow Our Weird Politics

CAN WE COUNT YOU IN? There has, perhaps, never been a more important time to read the American publication which, “more than any other, has described (and prescribed) the passions and pre-occupations of the liberal intellectual elite.” —The New York Times. And “has the largest claim to be regarded as the indispensable publication of the modern English-speaking world.” —The Guardian.

- ▶ Save $36 on a one-year subscription. You'll enjoy a full year's subscription of 20 issues for just $79—$36 off the regular subscription price of $115.
- ▶ FREE Online Content. You will have exclusive subscriber-only access to the current issue plus five years of archived issues of the Review.
- ▶ A No-Risk Guarantee. You can cancel your subscription at any time, for any reason. We will refund you for the remaining unmailed issues.
